MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING/AGREEMENT BETWEEN
UNITED STATES COAST GUARD AND THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF STATE BOATING LAW ADMINISTRATORS
REGARDING RECREATIONAL BOATING SAFETY (RBS)

1. PARTIES. The parties to this Agreement are the United States Coast Guard (USCG) and the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators (NASBLA).

2. AUTHORITY. This Agreement is authorized under the provisions of 14 U.S.C. §102(a) and 46 U.S.C. § 13109(b).

3. PURPOSE. The USCG, the Nation’s oldest continuous sea-going service, is a multi-mission maritime service and a branch of the Nation’s Armed Forces whose personnel are proud of their traditions as lifesavers and guardians of the sea. Its mission is to protect the public, United States’ economic interests, and the environment at sea, along the Nation’s coasts, in the United States ports and waterways, and internationally. As part of its mission to provide quality service to the American public as a maritime humanitarian and safety organization, the USCG is mandated by statute (46 U.S.C. § 13102) to carry out a National RBS Program that encourages “greater State participation and uniformity in boating safety efforts, and particularly to permit the States to assume the greater share of boating safety education, assistance, and enforcement activities.”

As coordinator of the National RBS Program, the USCG has broad statutory authority, including validating RBS program compliance and providing authorized and appropriated Federal financial assistance for related State programs and national nonprofit public service organizations; overseeing the national boating safety outreach, promotion and awareness program; administering the recreational boating product assurance program to establish and enforce safety standards concerning the manufacture of recreational boats and associated equipment; and collecting, analyzing and publishing recreational boating statistics.

The NASBLA is a professional association consisting of State, Commonwealth, and Territorial officials (hereafter collectively referred to as the State(s)) having responsibility for administering and/or implementing RBS programs. Non-voting membership is open on an associate basis to others who are interested in boating safety issues. The Association is widely recognized for its stewardship of recreational boating safety. The NASBLA promotes boating safety by providing a medium for the exchange of views and experiences; fostering interstate and Federal-State cooperation and coordination in boating safety issues; promoting greater efficiency in administration and enforcement of boating laws; and, as feasible and desirable, promoting consensus of State views on any subject within the Association’s interests, including the effective presentation and dissemination of these views. The NASBLA coordinates reciprocal arrangements/agreements and provides conformity assessments of State and private boating education programs; promotes uniform boating regulations through the adoption of model acts and policies; and strives for the general advancement of boating safety.

Through its many activities, the NASBLA has successfully fostered cooperation and coordination among the States in addressing boating safety issues. This expertise is invaluable in promoting innovative and improved boating safety programs to the boating public. Since enactment of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 (Pub. L. 92-75, 85 Stat. 213 (codified as amended in various sections of 46 U.S.C), the USCG, the States, the NASBLA, and other program partners have made great strides in improving the delivery of RBS services to the boating public. However, despite many successes, the boating environment of America’s waterways is continuously evolving and providing new challenges. Therefore, it is appropriate that the USCG and the NASBLA reaffirm their commitment to the safety of the estimated 74 million Americans, nearly one-fourth of the United States population, who enjoy recreational boating each year. Acknowledging the potential importance and public good that their roles as partners in boating safety programs can provide, the USCG and the NASBLA recognize that this partnership can be made even more productive by a written understanding that defines the basic principles underlying this relationship.

The purpose of this Agreement is to set forth terms by which the USCG and the NASBLA will strive to provide a safe and enjoyable environment for boaters on bountiful but often congested waterways, and to mutually reaffirm the commitment of each to ensure this productive relationship continues; in order to provide to the recreational boaters of the United States the benefits of the services and assistance available through both organizations.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES:

Coast Guard.

a. By mutual agreement, the USCG will participate in intergovernmental sessions for the expressed purpose of coordinating their expertise and resources and addressing pertinent RBS issues affecting the boating public. As evidence of this agreement, the USCG will make representation available to participate in appropriate venues to discuss pertinent issues that affect the State recreational boating safety programs and other areas of mutual concern.

b. The success or failure of the State recreational boating safety program is due in large part to the availability of the Sport Fish Restoration and Boating Trust Fund ("Trust Fund"). The level of this funding is dependent on Congress and the Administration. The USCG will illustrate the positive use and effectiveness of these funds and seek appropriate funding levels through the authorization process.

c. Recognizing that the Trust Fund is a critical and vital link in the Federal efforts "to encourage greater State participation and uniformity in boating safety efforts" and in the States' efforts "to assume the greater share of boating safety education, assistance, and enforcement activities" (pursuant to Title 46 U.S.C. § 13102), the USCG will communicate openly with the NASBLA, concerning efforts to achieve continued reauthorization of the Trust Fund and to bolster the success of the National RBS Program.

d. The USCG will participate with the NASBLA committees, panels and boards in support of the National RBS Program goals and objectives in accordance with 46 U.S.C. § 13109.

e. The USCG will communicate with the NASBLA in an effort to resolve the many national boating safety issues and conflicts that arise, and to help maximize efforts to ensure uniformity and reciprocity of State boating safety laws.

f. The USCG recognizes the NASBLA's status as an American National Standards Institute (ANSI) Accredited Standards Developer Organization with a focus on boating education. Further, the USCG recognizes that the NASBLA is the primary entity that provides the States with conformity assessments for knowledge-based boating education courses meeting the national standards and thus meeting the individual State RBS educational requirements.

g. The USCG is responsible for administering the National Recreational Boating Survey (NRBS) to collect and analyze data related to recreational boater activities, attitudes, behaviors, preferences and priorities to provide a knowledge-based foundation for developing and evaluating program interventions. Given the potential for utilizing survey data to evaluate state-to-state program effectiveness, the USCG will openly receive and formally acknowledge recommendations from the NASBLA concerning the design and development of the national survey, as well as the analysis of survey results.

h. Given the success of this productive partnership in achieving greater State participation in boating safety efforts particularly in boating safety education, assistance and enforcement activities, each year, the USCG will ensure that the NASBLA, along with other interested constituents, is informed as soon as it is known of the date of publication of any proposed areas of emphasis for the National Nonprofit Organization Grant Program. NASBLA in turn may forward the information to its state and territory members so that they are aware of the opportunity to comment. As with all parties, the USCG will give full consideration to any state, territory, or NASBLA comments on the USCG proposed areas of emphasis.

National Association of State Boating Law Administrators (NASBLA).

a. By mutual agreement, the NASBLA will participate in intergovernmental sessions for the expressed purpose of coordinating their respective expertise and resources and addressing pertinent RBS issues affecting the boating public. As evidence of this agreement, the NASBLA will make representation available to participate in appropriate venues to discuss pertinent issues that affect the State recreational boating safety programs and other areas of mutual concern.

b. The success or failure of the State recreational boating safety program is due in large part to the availability of the Sport Fish Restoration and Boating Trust Fund ("Trust Fund"). The level of this funding is dependent on Congress and the Administration. The NASBLA will illustrate the positive use and effectiveness of these funds and seek appropriate funding levels through the authorization process.

c. Recognizing that the Trust Fund is a critical and vital link in the Federal efforts “to encourage greater State participation and uniformity in boating safety efforts” and in the States’ efforts “to assume the greater share of boating safety education, assistance, and enforcement activities” (pursuant to Title 46 U.S.C. § 13102), the NASBLA and USCG will openly communicate with each other to achieve continued reauthorization of the Trust Fund and to ensure the vitality and success of the National RBS Program.

d. Recognizing that enhanced uniformity of State recreational boating safety laws and regulations is of significant benefit to the recreational boating public, and that the NASBLA is a vital resource to the potential enhancement of such uniformity, the NASBLA will coordinate with the USCG to provide an annual review and update on the progress toward uniformity of these state laws and regulations.

e. NASBLA will communicate with the USCG in an effort to resolve the many national boating safety issues and conflicts that arise, and to help maximize efforts to ensure uniformity and reciprocity of State boating safety laws.

f. Given the success of this productive partnership in achieving greater State participation in boating safety efforts particularly in boating safety education, assistance and enforcement activities, the NASBLA will assist the USCG in communicating to their state and territory members any proposed USCG areas of emphasis for the National Nonprofit Organization Grant Program.
